That "Kidnapping" Story.

The story about certain Barton and West Glover men doing a "kidnaping" job at Lyndonville last week, circulated in Boston and other papers, appears to be set out in much greater color than facts would warrant. The Monitor has taken special pains to get at the truth in the matter. It seems that a delegation of men, indignant at the attentions a certain man paid to another man's wife, went to Lyndonville some time ago for the purpose of "having a little fun" with the man. They did not find him at home. Last week another delegation went down, got the man away from the house with the intention of applying a coat of tar and feathers, but some of the party "didn't take hold" and the captive got away, and informed the authorities that serious attempts had been made upon him. The men were taken before proper authorities and charged with breach of the peace, instead of anything more serious as Boston papers have made out. The men say they had their money's worth and from the expression of public sentiment one would judge that still another delegation might await upon the "kidnaped" party, with more determination than any have heretofore done.

Another Big Barn Burns in Troy.

The explosion of a lantern carried by Mrs. Henry Adams while hunting "egg" on Saturday morning, set fire to the large barn on the Adams farm near Baker's mill in Troy. The farm was for many years owned by William Williams. The fire spread very rapidly and the house, which was near, was soon burning. Distance from neighbors and scarcity of water prevented saving much personal property. Four horses were taken out, but one rushed back and that and a fine pair of heavy horses were burned; a few farming tools were saved. From the house only a couch, desk, one or two tables and two or three chairs and a very few articles of clothing were saved. The buildings were in fine repair and the house well furnished. The loss is placed at $5,000 with insurance at $3,400. Mr. Adams got his face and neck badly burned. Mrs. Adams had her face cut by the flying lantern globe and her hands and wrists burned.

BARTON 6, HARDWICK 5.

Barton won its game from the strong Hardwick team Saturday afternoon by the score of 6 to 5 in a hard fought game from beginning to end. Barton got three runs in the first inning but Hardwick steadied down after that and played ball. Barton had a couple of bad innings in the third and fourth when Hardwick run in their five scores, the score standing 5 to 3 in favor of Hardwick at the end of the fourth. During a large part of the game the ball was wet which accounts for the number of errors on both sides. Following is the score. Remember the game here with Lyndonville Saturday.

Suicide at Coventry.

Nelson Shepard of Coventry committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor between 3 and 4 o'clock Monday morning. He also took a quantity of arsenic. The deed was undoubtedly premeditated as he planned everything with the most care and attention, even spreading newspapers around the bed so as not to spot the carpet with blood. Mr. Shepard had been growing deaf rapidly, and that was probably one cause of the rash act. He was strictly honest, upright and moral and always had a joke ready for every occasion. He was born in Sharon, but came to Coventry when young with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Spaulding Shepard. He married Mrs. Sarah Jordan and lived in Newport for some time, then moved to Milford, N. H., residing there a good many years. But after the decease of his wife he came back to Coventry and spent some time there and in Norwich and Pepperell, Mass. Last fall he located permanently at Coventry and lived with his niece, Mrs. Wm. Niles. He was 58 years and 6 months old and leaves two nephews, John P. Wheelock of Coventry and Albertus Roberts of Pomfret and a niece, Mrs. Ida Niles of Coventry. The funeral was held this Wednesday afternoon. The remains will be taken to Mount Auburn crematory, Boston, to be cremated. He was the oldest citizen in town.

Another Fast Game for Saturday.

Lyndonville and Barton line up Saturday in the third game in the series. Game called at 2:30 sharp. Lyndonville won the second game 2-1 in 11 innings. This should be a red hot contest and worthy of a larger attendance than has yet been seen at the Park. The home team has won six of the nine games played and a little more encouragement from the fans would help a lot.

Rev. W. A. Warner went to Rutland Friday to preach and spend Sunday in that city. Rev. W. B. Dukeshire supplied his pulpit Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Dyke and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Gaskill have returned from Willoughby lake and Mr. and Mrs. Dyke have gone to their home in Northfield.

G. H. Davis and H. R. Cutler were in Boston last week and drove home an E. M. F. 30 touring car which the G. H. Davis company sold to Mrs. Dexter of Glover.

Mrs. Jane Lewis Phillips of West Burke is visiting her niece, Mrs. Ora Hubbard. Maud Hubbard is spending the summer with Mrs. A. K. Story in Crystal Lake grove.

Mrs. E. A. Robbins and children left Saturday to go on their way to Niagara Falls. Mr. Robbins, who has a fine position in the government service will be stationed there.

Miss Fannie May arrived Monday evening from Greensboro, N. C., where she spent the winter, accompanied by her sister Abbie of Readville, Mass., who will remain here a few weeks.

The Peerless factory opened Monday morning after the annual vacation. Manager Underwood says he wants more help and the prospect is brighter for a larger business than it has been before for some time.

Fred Chabot received a painful wound Monday, while working in Roy, Asselin's stone shed. A piece of steel struck him very near the outside corner of his right eye, making a deep and painful wound. Fortunately the eyeball was uninjured.

The hail storm of Saturday was one of the worst in several years, although little damage was done. The rain of Monday afternoon and night were very welcome and did a vast amount of good. Nearly two inches of rain fell during the time.

Dr. Bruce M. Wallace, who was graduated from the Ontario veterinary college at Toronto this spring will open an office for the practice of veterinary medicine in Barton about Aug. 1st. He has been under the instruction of several veterinarians the past five years.

The beautiful fantasy, "Princess Iris," with many new and thrilling features produced with superb scenery and mechanical effects will be seen at the opera house on Monday and Tuesday nights, July 24 and 25. From the beginning to the end it is a carnival of excellent fun, indelibly stamping it as the big fun show.

The building of the new railroad bridge at the high bridges to take the place of the old wooden one is a big job. Three derricks are set up, two of them are run by steam. About twenty men are at work, but a larger number will be set at work later. The men are now engaged in building a long breakwater of granite and cement to protect one of the abutments from being undermined by the action of ice and water.

Dr. Buswell returned Sunday, accompanied by Rev. Ezekiel Fitzgerald, of the Second Universalist church, Boston, who will be his guest for a few weeks. Several more guests are expected from Boston and New York during the summer. Dr. Buswell reports that the Eddy will case upon which he has been at work, is daily growing more complicated and is liable to be in the courts of both New Hampshire and Massachusetts for several months.

E. C. Graves, the church decorator of Wells River, finished work today on the Methodist church. In the judgment of the committee who have had the work in charge, and others, he has done a fine piece of work. While it cannot be described in detail the work shows the decorator studied every part carefully to make it all appropriate and harmonious.

Mr. Graves has proven himself thoroughly competent for such work and a very honorable man to have dealings with. Not a word of misunderstanding or complaint has passed between him and the committee. He and his workmen carry with them the appreciation and best wishes of those for whom they have worked. The other parts of the work are being pushed as rapidly as possible and the church will be opened in a few weeks now.
